

Following the Chameleon ¹

Introductory Community of Practice

For Teachers and Educational Actors

with Geneviève EMOND (Ph.D., Education)

Using movement, creation and reflection, the Chameleon offers a space for free individual and collective explorations, alongside your work or remote-work environments. Come join us for a refreshing break! Take care of yourself and regain your breath, while renewing the meaning of your educational practice and your professional engagement.

We use a pedagogical approach at the leading edge of research, blending embodiment theories and models of teaching coherence, with a COVID-transition component. Our workshops have been offered since 2014 in many different educational and university contexts. Everyone is welcome. No prior experience or competencies necessary.

Fall-2020 introductory workshops offered in bilingual format (choose one date only):

Saturday, October 31, 2020, 10 AM–12 PM (1) or 12:30 PM–2:30 PM (2)

5515 Queen Mary, suite 305, Snowdon, Montreal

Monday, November 2, 2020, 4 PM–6 PM, collaboration with Delphine PARÉE (Dance)

Special outdoor format, Abri du réservoir du Sommet, Mount Royal, Montreal

Up to 12 participants per workshop; in two small groups on Saturday. All sanitary measures respected.

Contribution requested: $25. Reserve by making a bank transfer.

Registration and information: admin@muzaeducation.com

Monthly groups will be offered in 2020/21: 5 in the winter and 5 in spring-summer.

Private and small-group sessions can also be arranged.

A project by MUZA – Creative Educational Solutions: muzaeducation.com

EMBODYING YOUR PRACTICES !

¹ The chameleon knows how to constantly adjust to changing environments. It shows its own true colours sometimes as well, to recharge itself.